

TOC leak test: applied redaction

The name in the heading was properly redacted (text removed, black bar left). The TOC still has it.

Report by Joh

Body text on page one.

TOC leak test: black rectangle (bad redaction)

The name is covered by a black bar but the text is still extractable underneath.

Memo from J

Body text on page two.

TOC leak test: dark image overlay (bad redaction)

The name is covered by a solid black image but the text is still extractable underneath.

Filed by Bo

Body text on page three.

TOC leak test: X-replacement text

The name was replaced with X characters but the TOC still has the original text.

Letter to XXXXXXXXXXXX

Body text on page four.

TOC leak test: unapplied Redact annotation

A Redact annotation was added but never applied.
The text is still visible and extractable.

Notes by ~~Carol Davis~~

Body text on page five.

TOC leak test: dark highlight annotation
A black highlight annotation covers the name.
The text is still readable underneath.

Review by

Body text on page six.

TOC leak test: no redaction (control)

Nothing is redacted on this page. The TOC entry matches the visible text, so nothing should flag.

Appendix by Alice Brown

Body text on page seven.